Absolutely sporty and a true motor racing treat: WIKING debuts the 2002 BMW in its racing version with "fat cheeks." Together with the contemporaneous Ford Escort Mark I in the "Mexico" sports version, it will be available in April. The legendary Renault R4 that appears in the 1967-74 model version has a much more down-to-earth feel. It will be joined by the Borgward flatbed truck with newly designed front section as customer service vehicle and the NSU Fiat Jagst in its closed saloon version. Fans of classic trucks will find much model-making fun this time with the Büssing BS 16 stanchion trailer truck – for the first time, with the new "Trilex" rims – and the BP airport tanker on the chassis of the International Harvester. Besides that, the MAN "Pausbacke" completes an impressive collection for the first time – a contemporary combination parexcellence has emerged. WIKING also miniaturises the John Deere 7280R with moving front loader, the VW Amarok as well as the multi-purpose boat of Lehmar, painted in the colours of the THW – all based on bang up-to-date prototypes.

Only WIKING is so multifaceted: The upgrading of the model range gives the model makers the chance to create an attractive contrast between yesterday and today. Thus we see again the old and trusty WIKING forklift truck of the "Maschinenfabrik Esslingen", the MAN 415 flatbed truck with loading crane and the popular Ackermann furniture truck and trailer combination in the design of the shipper "Carl Balke". Besides that, the collectors can now have and hold to cherish the ruby red VW Beetle 1200 and the "Wilk" caravan. In addition, the

Hako Citymaster 1750 as well as the VW T5 GP as a fire service vehicle are available. The VW T5 GP is presented in Claas design, available as a customer service vehicle in N-gauge. Those who know about the historical chronology of WIKING understand that when these dumpers were launched long ago, the passion for models came into full swing. "Die großen Kipper von Meiller!" is the title of the WIKING limited edition that makes its appearance in historical 1:87 scale. The models are created with different grille printings.
